DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's amendment dated 03/10/2006 has been received and entered. By the amendment, claims 2-5, 7-10 and newly added claim 11 are now pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

2. Claims 7-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 102(b) as being anticipated by Kochis et al., US Patent No. 5,568,357.

The above claims are anticipated by Kochis et al figure 1 and accompanying text which discloses a display panel housing comprising a display panel (13), a predetermined panel-mounting case (28), a predetermined panel edge cover (26), at least one first spacer (32), at least two holding members (30), at least one second spacer (16/18).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kochis et al., US Patent No. 5,568,357.

Art Unit: 2871

Regarding the above claims, the method of mounting a display panel would have been obvious to in view of the Kochis et al. structure for preventing shock to an electronic device.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 03/10/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's only argument is that the Kochis 's dampening cap 18 cannot hold the display panel in a non-movable manner (amendment, page 7). The Examiner is not convinced by this argument since the same is true of the Kochis 's dampening cap. In particular, the Kochis's dampening cap (18) has a function of shock absorbing, so as to secure the display panel from drop shock forces. In other words, the display panel would not be movable as claimed. Therefore, the applicant's second spacer and the Kochis 's dampening cap would be the same as well.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
